3Q26 Highlights:

- Structural transformation: The leadership teams of Argos Materials and Argos Latam are fully in place, and the analysis and preparation for the separation of the two platforms are advancing on schedule. In addition, we completed the implementation of SAP S/4HANA, a key enabler of a more integrated organization with simpler processes and faster decision-making.
- Solid Latam performance: In Colombia, our local cement volumes grew 6.3% year-to-date, above the industry (3.6%). In Central America & Caribbean, adjusted EBITDA grew 10.6% in the quarter. Results proved resilient amid energy cost inflation, and our hedges mitigated the effect of the peso revaluation.
- Progress on our U.S. growth strategy: We secured a permanent location in Tampa and are close to securing a terminal in another large coastal market, advanced a pipeline of additional aggregates sites in the Caribbean, were active for the first time in several M&A processes, and expanded our growth pipeline to more than 95 opportunities.
- Commitment to Colombia: Together with Grupo Argos, through “Adopta un Hogar,” we committed to building 1,000 new homes in the territories most affected by the August earthquake, and we are putting our products, capabilities and logistics network at the service of the reconstruction.

SPRINT 4.0

During the third quarter of 2026, we continued executing the SPRINT 4.0 initiatives, reaching a cumulative Total Shareholder Return (TSR) of 750% in dollars since the program's launch, and around 25% year-to-date in 2026.

First Pillar: On operational and financial results, the year-to-date adjusted EBITDA margin stood at 22.6%, impacted mainly by higher energy costs and the revaluation of the peso. We remain committed to an EBITDA margin of 24% to 26% over the next two years. Return on capital employed (ROCE) reached 16.6% on a last-twelve-months basis, in line with our target of more than 16%.

Second and Third Pillar: On distributions to shareholders, year-to-date we have paid COP 575 billion in dividends, equivalent to 81% of the amount approved for the year, including 100% of the extraordinary dividend of COP 183 billion, and we expect to pay an additional COP 132 billion before year-end. Additionally, we have executed close to COP 120 billion in share buybacks, of which COP 67 billion corresponds to the current COP 450 billion program, bringing total shareholder distributions to COP 695 billion in 2026.

Fourth Pillar: On share liquidity, we continue advancing toward our goal of being included in the main global indices and increasing our weight in local indices. A recent example is our inclusion in Tevaicol, the index launched by BTG Pactual in August, where Cementos Argos is among the issuers with the highest weight. Additionally, this year our total market capitalization and liquidity met the thresholds for the MSCI EM Standard Index, and we are advancing initiatives to increase our free float and comply with the index requirements, which we expect to implement before the end of the first quarter of 2027, aiming for an upgrade to the MSCI EM Standard Index.

Fifth Pillar: On our growth strategy, we advanced on two fronts:

In the United States, we continue developing Argos Materials, our aggregates platform. The U.S. aggregates market remains a bright spot for our strategy, especially for our import model: demand across the Gulf Coast is growing, driven by large industrial projects, while the rest of the country benefits from the data center buildout, despite the residential slowdown. Construction aggregates production grew 5.9% in the first half of the year, while total construction spending declined 3.5%. During the quarter, we secured a permanent location in Tampa, which we will build out over the next two years, and we are close to securing a permanent, well-located terminal in another large coastal market. We also advanced the development of our aggregates sources in the Caribbean, with a pipeline of additional sites in the due diligence stage to diversify origin and manage risk. In addition, for the first time Argos Materials was active on several potential M&A opportunities in various geographies, and we expanded our growth pipeline to more than 95 potential opportunities, including greenfield sites and existing aggregates-led materials businesses, which we will pursue with discipline in capital allocation.

In Venezuela, we continue exporting by land from our Sogamoso plant and are exploring maritime exports of bulk cement from our Cartagena plant. In parallel, we are advancing initiatives to reestablish our presence in the country, through progress on our long-standing claim.

Consolidated Results

Cement volumes for the quarter reached 2.39 million tons, declining 3.1% versus the same period of the prior year, impacted by lower trading and export volumes amid a U.S. market that remains challenging due to high interest rates. Ready-mix volumes reached 690 thousand cubic meters, growing 14.6%, driven by a solid project pipeline in Colombia.

Consolidated revenues stood at COP 1.35 trillion, declining 1.4%, mainly due to the revaluation of the peso: the average exchange rate for the quarter was approximately 20% lower than in the third quarter of 2025, which reduces the value in pesos of revenues in dollars from Central America, the Caribbean and exports. Measured in pesos for Colombia and in dollars for Central America & Caribbean, revenues grew at a mid-single-digit rate. Adjusted EBITDA reached COP 327 billion, declining 12.6%, with a margin of 24.3%, a contraction of 312 bps, explained mainly by higher energy costs across Latam and the exchange rate effect. To offset these effects, we have focused on what we can control: SG&A discipline, which has generated savings of more than COP 25 billion year-to-date, and our hedging strategy, which has generated more than COP 39 billion and will continue to mitigate the impact of the stronger peso through year-end.

Adjusted net income for the quarter reached COP 197 billion. Net financial expenses were COP 22 billion, driven by lower financial income due to a lower cash balance following the initial Argos Materials investments, debt repayment and shareholder distributions, and by the revaluation of the peso, which reduced the value in pesos of the interest earned on our dollar-denominated cash. This was partially offset by savings of COP 17 billion in interest expenses. In addition, we recorded a foreign exchange gain of COP 39 billion, as the appreciation of the peso during the quarter decreased the value in pesos of our dollar-denominated liabilities.

Results by Region

Colombia

Revenues for the quarter reached COP 821 billion, growing 5.7% versus the same period of the prior year, driven by the local market, the growth of ready-mix and the price adjustments implemented during the year, which offset a lower contribution from exports. Adjusted EBITDA stood at COP 205 billion, declining 13.8%, with a margin of 25.0%, a contraction of 566 bps, explained by higher coal costs due to the El Niño phenomenon, fewer operating days due to a new national holiday in July and the August earthquake, and a product mix with a greater weight of ready-mix. Year-to-date, the adjusted margin stood at 25.7%, 189 bps below the same period of the prior year.

Cement volumes in the local market reached 1.084 million tons, growing 1.1% against a very strong third quarter of 2025; year-to-date, they grew 6.3%, outperforming the industry, which grew 3.6% driven by the retail segment. Exports declined 5.6% to 308 thousand tons amid lower demand from the U.S. Concrete volumes reached 653 thousand cubic meters, growing 15.5%, supported by a solid pipeline of projects.

We see these pressures on profitability as temporary and remain committed to bringing margins back close to 30% in the medium term. Market prospects remain positive, with private consumption driving the retail segment and an expected boost from housing and infrastructure under the new government. In addition, in line with the announcements of Grupo Argos, we will support the reconstruction of the areas affected by the earthquake.

Central America & Caribbean

Cement volumes for the quarter reached 997 thousand tons, a decline of 6.5% versus the third quarter of 2025, explained by a lower contribution from the trading business, while ready-mix volumes remained stable at 37 thousand cubic meters. Revenues stood at USD 155 million, growing 8.0%. Adjusted EBITDA reached USD 44 million, growing 10.6%, with a margin of 28.6%, an expansion of 66 bps, driven mainly by the recovery of the operation in the Dominican Republic.

In Central America, cement volumes reached 484 thousand tons, growing 4.9%, with revenues of USD 69 million, growing 6.8%, and adjusted EBITDA of USD 23 million, growing 2.5%, with a margin of 33.3%, a contraction of 141 bps; ready-mix volumes grew 5.5%. In Panama, the market is growing high single digit this year, driven by infrastructure projects such as the Fourth Bridge over the Canal and Metro Line 3, and our EBITDA has grown double digit year-to-date. In Honduras, despite a double-digit contraction in industry demand year-to-date following the government transition, our revenues grew at a high single-digit rate, with a margin slightly below the prior year due to higher energy costs. In Guatemala, our volumes have nearly doubled year-to-date.

In the Caribbean, cement volumes reached 403 thousand tons, growing 2.5%, with revenues of USD 77 million, growing 10.8%, and adjusted EBITDA of USD 19 million, growing 27.7%, with a margin of 24.6%, an expansion of 326 bps; ready-mix volumes declined 1.9%. The Dominican Republic, having fully recovered from the first-quarter disruption, reached a record quarter in cement dispatches, and we received USD 2.7 million from our business-interruption insurance claim, in addition to the USD 1 million recovered in the second quarter, and we expect to finalize the process before year-end. Puerto Rico, Haiti, Suriname and the Antilles also posted revenue and EBITDA growth year-to-date.

Separated Financial Statements

In compliance with the letter 24 of 2017 and the article 5.2.4.1.5 of decree 2555 of 2010, is important to highlight that to have a better understanding of the financial information published by the company, both the consolidated and separated financial statements must be analyzed in conjunction including its respective appendixes and the solvency, profitability, liquidity and indebtedness are detailed in the respective document transmitted to the Superintendencia Financiera de Colombia.

The separated financial statements of Cementos Argos S.A. reflect a similar trend to the one reported in the analysis of our Colombian operation in the consolidated financial statements and complementary analysis published to the stock market and reported to the Superintendencia Financiera de Colombia. In the same way, the separated financial statements include the corporate expenses of the operation that supports all the geographies. In this sense, and in order to have an appropriate understanding of the solvency, profitability, liquidity and indebtedness of the company, it is suggested to analyze the consolidated financial statements.
